

Don't Miss Your Chance to be Represented

In the PMBR!

Greetings!

Where did the last 12 months go?

Yes, it's that time of year again where we ask you, the practitioners in the project management domain to help us gather data in order for us to collate the 2019 Arras People Project Management Benchmark Report.

2018 has been another interesting year here in the UK and across the globe and we are keen to understand how the Project Management community has fared. Here in the UK we have seen reported unemployment at its lowest levels, indications of some skills shortages, whilst remuneration for many has remained under tight constraints. 2019 looks set to create a new set of challenges, especially here in the UK with us due to leave the European Union on 29th March.

So, there is lots to look at in the PM Census and we hope that you can spare the time to paint your own picture of what happened in 2018 and your thoughts about 2019.

PM practitioners and those who create the roles we all look to fill enjoy the insights provided by the Project Management Benchmark Report so every contribution counts!
